DRUG RAIDERS LOCKED BY SPY'S TIP

Word Phoned Ahead in Time to Get Under Cover; Federal Probe Begun

A rigid inquiry into a "tipoff" that foiled Washington narcotic agents Saturday night in the biggest program of raids ever attempted here, is under way. It was revealed this afternoon.

Surprise raids yesterday that netted 11 prisoners gave them little chance to plan that went awry. It was learned today that an outsider, working from a telephone near Tremont and Stuart sts., sent the warnings after he had been tipped off by somebody acquainted with the secret plans of the raiders.

The raid was to be handled entirely by Washington agents, the official word of the plan. After the first few steps were unsuccessful, it could be seen that the "grapevine telegraph" had been broken at work.

The disappointed Washington agents failed to discuss the value of the raid, but were openly disgruntled at the turn in affairs. However, it was learned a search investigation had been ordered. Their preparations had been weeks during which undercover agents and "buyers" had been working in Boston unknown to police or the local federal "rat".

In command of Deputy Commissioner A. J. Darling of the Federal Bureau of Narcotics, the agents were sent here with instructions to work independently of local agents, but news of their arrival leaked out and they were met by the cooperation of Police Commr. Huttman.

The raids of Saturday night were conducted with the built-in mistake of the 11 prisoners. They were recorded as Mrs. Margaret Mann, alias Irene Harrington, alias "White Queen of Chinatown"; Frank Angio of Milton st.

Ticket Specs for United Huddle

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER
We don't see how Army and Navy can refuse to play a football game for charity.

It must be done. The ticket speculators demand it. West Point and Annapolis are properties of the American public.

And the first to benefit by that fund would be the cheerleaders. Every big sporting event this winter should be for charity.

President Hoover is head man of the Army and Navy. Make 'em play such a game before I vote the military out.

The writer hasn't played football in 20 years. But he will play now and every kid that knows the line, provided the players promise to replace their duds.

Our only alma mater is Combsheken Reform School. But we will play and let for that as Albie Booth will for Yale. MARION DAVIES TO STAGE PARTY FOR WAR VETS

Los Angeles, Nov. 10 (AP)—Seventy-five officers of the battleships in Los Angeles harbor will be guests at the party given by the veterans of the American combat divisions of the World War by Miss Marion Davies at the Baltimore tomorrow night—Armistice night.

Also an equal number of officers of the United States Army, stationed in Southern California, also will be present. Both army and navy officers will be accompanied by their ladies.

Attendance of these representatives of the active service list of the army and navy has been arranged for as a courtesy from the army and navy to the veterans who fought in the Great War and then returned to civilian life.

MANY HIGHS TO ATTEND
Placards all the tickets have gone to the invited guests. The dance will begin at 8 o'clock in the evening.

One of the veterans who will attend Miss Davies' party includes many who have awards of Congressional medals of honor or other distinguished service cross, and the expected honor will be paid.

One of the heroes is Capt. E. C. Charnow, president of the 31st Division Association, who was the Distinguished Service Cross.

His captaincy of the 31st Division Infantry, during the Meuse-Argonne offensive his unit was ordered to the left flank of the 31st front, to maintain liaison between that division and the 35th. By the night of Sept. 29, 1918, the 31st was some kilometers in advance of the right of the 35th.

Capt. Charnow went forward alone to select positions to be occupied by his company to protect the exposed left flank of the 31st. As he was returning he was struck in a blast of fragments of shell, and he fell from his horse to the ground. In the first aid station later it was found he had two wounds.

GIVES HIS ORDER
The captain blew his whistle and none of his men came forward and carried him back. Struggling to get on his feet, Charnow got out his map and told his first lieutenant where to place the platoons of the company. And then he was carried back to begin his months in hospitals and his afterlife as a severely disabled but lionhearted veteran.

Lieut. Walden took his men forward and placed them as his aged officer had indicated. They were just in time to prevent a fierce attack that would have annihilated the entire division.

Now Millions of Adults, too, check Colds

2 WAYS at once!

Mothers were first to appreciate the modern method of treating colds externally, because it avoids the constant nagging of a sore throat and children's delicate stomachs.

Now millions of adults, too, prefer Vicks for their colds, because, just rubbed on, it brings relief two ways at once:

(1) Its medicated vapors, released by the heat of the body, are inhaled direct to the sinuses, loosening the phlegm and easing the breathing.

(2) At the same time, Vicks acts through the skin like a poultice or plaster, thus helping the inflamed parts to break up the congestion.

Junior League to Usher in Lecture on City Planning

IN THE NEW JUNIOR League hall on Thursday, November 13, Mr. Robert W. Whitely, nationally known consultant, will explain the new Boston City Planning board for the illumination of the Urban League of Women Voters.

Another royal person seen in Paris, recently was the Infanta Beatrice of Spain, who is a daughter of Queen Marie of Romania. She was seen in a gown of rose mottos with a high white lace and a plain bodice. The long short betrothal was announced in a formal statement. The same evening she was seen in a gown of rose mottos with a high white lace and a plain bodice.

Paris Adds Length to Winter Wraps

By ANN ARDEN

IF YOU have been listening to nothing but the depressed state of affairs this winter and want to forget it all for a few hours—now advise that you set forth on a small expedition in look at evening wraps. After the first few models parade past you won't believe that there is anything but luxury rampant in the world. Of course, it may give you a small twinge not to buy that same and exult in the fact that you will find a lapin and velvet one at a fraction its price that will make you look like a cool million.

SO MANY people have asked us whether a wrap or a long one should be their choice for the social gathering. We have answered that both are smart. The longer wrap is newer and therefore a bit more exciting. It is the supremely elegant gesture for your really grand frocks. It is definitely giving it a big play in all the foremost houses. Not only does length add impressiveness to this wrap, but fabric and fur pool all their wealth to make it a dress for happy-loving souls.

THE COSTUME pictured is of black silk velvet, the green is long, with half-fur collar and an 180 neckline. The matching wrap has a wide circular ruffle about its lower edge, edged in brown and black. Note touching in back. The wrap has long slim lines and is topped by shawl collar and a wide band in white satin. This evening bag is of small pearls.

NEVER HAS there been a time when you can be more individual in the colors which you combine in your evening ensemble. First, of course, comes white which is so pre-eminent smart this winter. Rhinestones or crystal jewelry, white flowers, a white wrap or a black one trimmed with white fur and white gloves are perfect.

TURQUOISE is probably the next most important color contrast after white. Turquoise jewelry, gloves, belt and shoes are effective. One shoulder strap of turquoise colored flowers is a new touch. A wrap could be in the blue, too.

OTHER COLORS with black that can be handled in much the same manner as white and blue include coral, green, ruby and gold.

4³/₄ MILES UP!
 ... it flowed freely
 at 6 degrees below zero

THIS, we believe, is one of the most convincing and most dramatic tests to prove cold-weather performance ever given a motor oil.

Carrying a regulation quart bottle of the new Socony Motor Oil, Captain Boris Sergievsky, holder of the world's altitude record for amphibians, shot his record-holding ship up more than four and three-quarters miles ... 25,200 feet on a sealed barograph ... where the thermometer registered 6 below zero.

At that extreme low temperature ... where ordinary oils would usually "freeze" or become sluggish ... the new Socony Motor Oil flowed freely.

Because it is completely dewaxed, the new

Socony Motor Oil is more fluid at low temperatures than any other. It insures easy starting for your car in "coldest" weather, gives instant lubrication, and reduces the drain on your battery.

The new Socony Motor Oil consistently maintains the proper "body" at all engine temperatures, so that it gives perfect piston seal, maximum power and minimum fuel consumption. New refining process reduces to a minimum all harmful elements which cause carbon, gum and sludge.

The new Socony Motor Oil is made from a Paraffine Base crude, selected because of its greater inherent oiliness (adsorption). It is refined by the new and exclusive Socony process which gives additional lubricating value and insures less wear on your motor.

We sincerely urge you to drain and flush your crankcase, and refill today with the new Socony Motor Oil. You will find this oil is even better for your car than Socony "Aircraft."

Socony Winter Gear Oil, the superior lubricant for cold weather, insures proper lubrication and easy gear shifting. Switch to it today. And for a quick starting gasoline try Socony Special plus Ethyl. Remember, too, the importance of lubrication during the winter months. Take no chances. Ask for a Socony Certified lubrication job—lubrication as it should be done—by trained experts.

HARVARD SUBS TO FREELY CROSS

TANNING WITH George Underwood

Toss Wishbone in Ashcan and Bring Forth Backbone

Looking Forward and Backward in Sport

Little "if" is a mighty big word, but it is never won any football game. It's the backbone, not the wishbone, that conquers. It isn't going to do Harvard any good to be weeping and wailing on what might have happened "if" those Crimson forward passes hadn't gone agley against Michigan. "If" the breaks hadn't gone against them against Army and Dartmouth. Harvard was beaten by three better teams. That's plain fact. Why camouflage it?

It also is the plain truth that Harvard "came" a lot last week. The team that went down before Newman's long, zooming spiral to Hudson was much further advanced than the Crimson outfit which bent the knee to Dartmouth and the Army. Harvard was not equipped to meet the Maine and Blue style of play. That Harvard was not equipped to meet it is Harvard's fault, or misfortune, whichever you choose to call it.

If there were a few Hardwicks, Mahans, Casseys and Bricks—

—they lay around loose of course. But Harvard's situation would be simplified. Wouldn't it be just great if you could find a Babe Ruth on any street corner or go out any afternoon and dig up a Dempsey?

There is only one Gus Sonnenberg. The former Dartmouth football star and his flying tackle have brought wrestling back to a popularity it hasn't had in years. Anytime Dynamite Gus comes leaping on a street wrestling mat we want a front row seat.

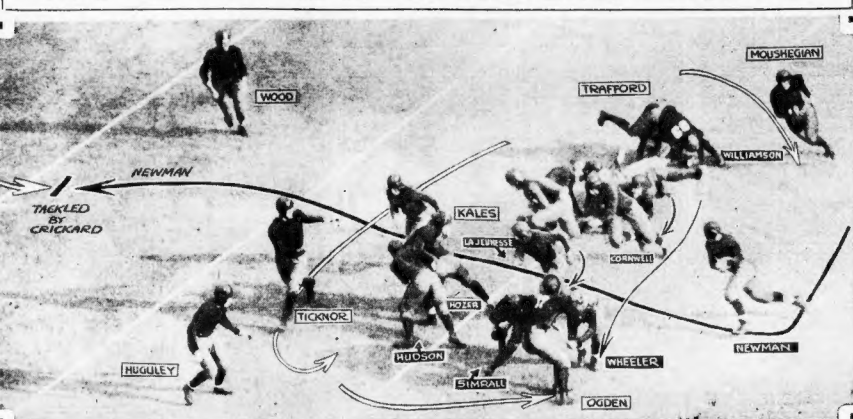

And the Bruins—Our Bruins! The greatest hockey outfit in the game, one of the greatest hockey combinations in the history of the sport. Yes, we know Les Canadien's title and the Stanley Cup last year. But they can't only be. When the Bruins had gone state from an exciting game, they were ever won a hockey team ragged.

When a hockey team drops out of the first game in a league series of 41, that certainly is "some" team! You said it! That team is Our Bruins. Up and at 'em again, Art!

That was a glorious battle, a magnificent battle, fought by a team of great players. You can't criticize the team which loses the war the Eagles did. They were victims in defeat.

How would you like to be parked in Yankee stadium next Saturday when Georgetown and N. Y. U. throw a game? You can't win if they slopped over a bit now and then and were guilty of offensive interference and a few other of those inferior crimes the football rule book now is overloaded with.

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN SPORTS FINE BLOCKING HELPED MICHIGAN DEFEAT HARVARD

So. California and Irish in Impressive Victories

By BILL GRIMES

Aside from the shelling administered by Notre Dame to Pennsylvania and California's defeat by Southern California, football enjoyed a tranquil week-end.

The Rockers' triumph over the Fighting Irish was a surprise. The Irish were looking for a better battle before the Harvard game but they were pressed hard by the latest West Virginia invasion of learning.

Colgate and Cornell continued their march through the Ivy League, while Princeton and Yale were rough on Worcester Polytechnic.

Alabama took the University of Florida in stride and is now a top favorite to succeed Tulane as the Southern Conference champion.

Crinson Team Better Than Record to Date Indicates

By RALPH GILROY

All-American Halfback at Princeton

Harvard resumes practice today with the distinction of being the best Crinson eleven to ever suffer three defeats and a tie in all the history of football contests across the Charles.

It is a peculiar irony of pigskin fate that a good football eleven, such as the Crinson team, which has been such a poor record and yet such a potential menace to future foes.

In spite of the adversity which Crinson has suffered, the team has not lost a game. It appears to be a much better bet for the Yale team than did last year's Crinson team with the better preliminary record.

One of the reasons for the Crinson's continued success is the existence of the stoutest factors for its continuance in the fact that the game brings out the character and fortitude of manhood.

Crinson Proves to Be Great Team in Defeat

Although defeated the Crinson team showed the stuff of which great eleven are made. With a lead of three points due to a successful dropkick by Wood, Crinson's eleven as a whole was apparently on the road to victory with five minutes of the final period gone.

At this point the Wolverine offense started to kick by virtue of a fine run by Michigan halfbacks, Wheeler and Hudson. It is doubtful if the victory would have been carried there by a touchdown, but a sparkling pass from Harry Newman to Roy Hudson gave the kipke aggregation a surprise touchdown to allow the Maine and Blue to assume the lead.

With seven minutes of the game to be played, it looked like curtains for the Crinson. But at this point the spirit, which stamped Crinson's eleven as one of the great ones in Harvard history, began to show. Newman to Roy Hudson gave the kipke aggregation a surprise touchdown to allow the Maine and Blue to assume the lead.

HARDING AND RICHARDS RETURN

Harvard's battered football team started an intensive two weeks of training for Yale at Soldier Field today.

Defeated in all three of their major games this season, Harvard hopes to end the year with a victory over Yale at the Bowl two weeks hence.

Harvard fans easily forget a poor season if the Crimson beats Yale. The sentiment around Harvard is that the Yale game is all that matters.

Harvard faces an obstacle of unknown power in Holy Cross, which comes to the Stadium for the last home game of Harvard's 1930 season. While Harvard is anxious to pack back into the arena, the Crimson will face a Harvard team composed chiefly of reserves.

Yale plays Princeton next week, and many of the Harvard regulars are sure to show their best work. If the Canbats can win against McEwen's Holy Cross outfit, so much the better, but Harvard is going for the big battle in the Bowl.

Harvard Developing Powerful Aerial Attack

Coach Arnold Horween, aided by the famous Jesse Hawley, has developed a Harvard passing attack that is really a threat, and the Wood to Huguley combination will be a big feature when Harvard clashes with Yale at the Bowl.

Horween will spend a great part of the winter months in developing a scoring punch for the Canbats to use. This has been the lack of the team's development this year.

Harvard's great lack this season has been a line plunger that can be counted upon for three or four yards against the enemy line.

Charlie Deane filled the bill nicely until he was injured, and now it is his only job to get back into the line. There will be no changes in the offensive line, but the defense will be directed by the Canbats, and Horween will develop a new strategy.

Harding and Richards Back With Squad

Win Harding, veteran Harvard left wingman, reports back to work today, as well as Al Scherewsky, full star Harvard tackle. The experience of these two veterans will strengthen Harvard's line considerably.

Harvard will scrimmage three times against the University of Virginia in the next few days in preparation for the Holy Cross team, which will be the first game in the season for Harvard. Last Cambridge rivalry may return before the Yale game.

Fuller and Callahan to Punch It Out for Title

RIVAL BATTLERS TRAINING HARD FOR BOUT AT ARENA NEXT MONDAY NIGHT

By JACK CONWAY

Sammy Fuller, New England lightweight champion, and Andy Callahan of Lawrence are expected to put up one of the most sensational battles in the history of the ring game in this section of the country when they collide in a 10-round bout at the Argonne A. A. show at the Boston Arena on next Monday night.

It will be the third time these rugged lightweights have exchanged blistering punches under the flickering glare of the stadium. Their first contest was staged at the Boston Gardens last spring and resulted in a victory for Callahan after 10 bruising rounds. Callahan and Fuller met in the triumph and the New England lightweight championship.

Callahan and Fuller met for the second time on June 1, last summer. On that occasion Fuller, by a terrific rally in the last two rounds, edged out a winner. During the meeting, as he had his lip and very cut in the fifth round by Fuller's sweeping punches.

Referee Johnny Finnelli did not consider Fuller in good enough condition to continue, but Sammy brushed the official aside and insisted he could fight on. He was allowed to do so and came down the home stretch like a thoroughbred.

Winner Will Seek Bout With Singer

It was only after weeks spent in negotiations by Matchmaker Eddie Mark of the Argonne Club that Callahan and Fuller were signed for the "rubber" contest. Mark anxious to relieve the suffering of the poor at Christmas, agreed to donate a per cent of the profits of the Fuller-Callahan bout to the Christmas Bazaar Fund of the Boston Forensic Association.

The show was held in former years for this most worthy charity were sold, and it is believed that capacity throng will jam the arena to see the lightweight title battle. The clash between Fuller and Callahan is a "natural." It brings together two of the world's leading lightweights. Either of these men would have a chance of winning Al Singer's title from him.

The winner of the Christmas Bazaar show will be in a position to demand consideration from Singer. Jimmy McLarnin proved that Singer can be tipped over. Fuller and Callahan are each looking forward to the day when they will send one of their best socks a-sizzling to the champion's chin. The lightweight quest next Monday night has created new interest in this boxing division in New England. Callahan and Fuller are the best lightweights who have surged to the front since the coming days of such famed warriors as Kid Goodman, Dave Deshaizer, Matty Eulien, Gilbert Gallant, Eddie Murphy, Johnny Gallant, Freddy Yelle and Joe Egan.

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN SPORTS B. C. High Gridmen in Fine Trim for Brookline Game

BROOKLINE OUT TO CRACK B. C. H. RECORD

GOLDIN, KELLEY AND TIMMONS are three of the Brookline high eleven which battles the unbeaten Boston College high team on Saturday at Brookline Field in the big Christmas Bazaar Fund game. Goldin, a guard, is a fine kicker. Capt. Kelley is a great school tackle. Timmons is one of the fastest of schoolboy halfbacks. These three, with their teammates, will give the Eagles a hard game. The contest should be one of the best of the year. Thousands of grid fans will attend the fray. Boston College high has not been beaten in the last two years. Only 12 points have been scored against the eleven in this time. This fine record is in danger on Saturday.

Rival Punchers Can Make Weight Easily

Callahan and Fuller will step on the gas in their training sessions from now on. Callahan has moved his camp from Weymouth to Jim Toland's Gym, while Fuller has come in from Sharon Gardens to Kelly and Hayes Gym. The rival punchers can make weight easily. Callahan weighs 135 lbs. and Fuller 130 lbs. Neither was expected to experience any difficulty in getting down to this notch.

Referee Johnny Finnelli did not consider Fuller in good enough condition to continue, but Sammy brushed the official aside and insisted he could fight on. He was allowed to do so and came down the home stretch like a thoroughbred.

Timmons and Hoststein Are Brookline Stars

Bill Timmons, halfback, and Ben Hoststein, fullback, of Brookline were outstanding in Saturday's clash with Somerville. Hoststein has had more experience than Timmons and his weight makes him a dependable man backing up the line and carrying on short plunges when a few yards are needed. Timmons is the abiding back on the Brookline team and his running will give Boston College high all times.

Bill Timmons, who was injured more than a week ago, made an unexpected recovery and played through the entire Fairhaven game. He is one of the best backs of the year and his presence in the lineup against the Weather Turners will help his club a lot.

Joe Griffin, B. C. high fullback, continued his fine play on Saturday, scoring one touchdown and kicking effectively on offense all times.

Peabody Elks defeated Haverhill Pros, 6 to 0, at Peabody. The Peabody Elks, who were scoring in the third period, broke through the Haverhill defense in the third period, three-yard line, but it could not break through the local line.

The 15th annual New England Intercollegiate cross-country run will be held this afternoon at Franklin Park. The freshman race starting at 1:30 and the varsity at 2 o'clock. Ten varsity and eight freshman teams will compete.

The varsity teams are Bates, Boston University, Holy Cross, M. I. T., Northeastern, Rhode Island, New Hampshire, Wesleyan and Coast Aggies. The freshman teams are Bates, Holy Cross, M. A. C. M. I. T., Northeastern, Rhode Island, Maine and New Hampshire.

Bates is the outstanding team in the varsity race and should have little difficulty in retaining the championship. In the freshman race, New Hampshire, Maine, Bates and M. I. T. appear to have outstanding teams.

The National Hockey League season opens tomorrow night, with three games listed.

The Bruins open at the Garden against the New York Americans, Philadelphia, a new city in the circuit, takes on the New York Rangers at the Boston Garden. The Bruins will start off with practically the same lineup as last year. There will be a new third line, the trio used by the Red Cross forwards all having been out of the team. The new line, Harry, Harris, Macdonald, and Pratt, are trying to make that line. They looked good Saturday night against Springfield Indians, but Manager Ross has not decided just which of them will play.

EVENING AMERICAN SPORTS

MAT CROWN AT STAKE

Gus Sonnenberg, professional wrestler, will defend his title against Jack Sherry at the Boston Arena.

Gus Sonnenberg will defend his title as world's heavyweight wrestling champion against Jack Sherry, Ohio state champion, at the Boston Arena on Thursday night. It will be a finish contest, best two falls out of three. This bout will mark the return to New England rings of the colorful Sonnenberg. The champion has been conquering the Coast and in the Middle West during the past month. He recently proved master of 351 George in a bout at Los Angeles.

Sherry recently scored a victory over the sturdy Martin Pliska in a contest at the Boston Arena. Pliska has beaten some of the best of the big fellows and is considered the most promising of the younger crop of wrestlers. The Wykoff, former University of St. Louis football star, will take on Harry Magnus of Springfield in another bout.

Fordham Still Remains Best Eleven in the East
 By CHICK MEEHAN
 New York, Nov. 10 (US)—There is only one way to grade football teams and that is on performance. That brings the first fight in the entire country down to Notre Dame and Northwestern in the Mid-West, Washington State on the Pacific coast, Alabama in the South and Fordham in the East. These teams are the best eleven in the country.

Some of the players that stood out in Saturday's clashes were Ford of Notre Dame, and it must have been a great night for the Ford family as it was said that Ford could not make the Penn team when he was a student there. The Ford family turned the tide for the Rams, and Newman of Michigan seems to be a second Henry Ford.

Macdonald of Colgate and Joe Savol of Notre Dame appear to be the best fullbacks of the season. The best fullbacks of the season, Johnny Campbell of Alabama is keeping that school on top. Johnny Campbell of Alabama is keeping that school on top.

College Gridiron to Help One More
 There is one more feature to be made in college games, which will make 100 the greatest football year in history. That is to extend their schedule one more week for the benefit of the unemployed. This is the second great opportunity that football players have had to help the unemployed. The first was during the war when gridiron was the service of their country.

"Little Soldier" Who Smiled Through Her Tears of Pain

CHEERFUL TO THE LAST. Tortured by pain for months, tiny Eleanor Stricken, Roxbury's "Little Soldier," died Saturday night. To the last Eleanor continued to console her grief-stricken mother, who attended the child night and day during her long illness. "If I have more of these pains, mama, I guess I'll have to leave you," declared the "Little Soldier" to her mother just a few hours before death finally brought the child relief. This picture of Eleanor was taken just a few weeks before her death and shows her holding a bottle of milk, one of the many contributions by kind-hearted readers of the American who rallied to the child's aid with food and financial assistance when the need of the Green family became known.

PESETA RATE UP FRANG DOWN

In the issue of international postal rates the money of the United States will be converted into that of the franc at the rate of 100 to 100 in the franc.

So trade an order dealing with a change of conversion rates for the international money order which went into effect today at the Boston postoffice and branches.

The market price of the Spanish peseta was recently advanced making it necessary to raise the rate at which the money of the United States is converted into that of the peseta.

As a result of this change the rate for the conversion of the United States dollar into the Spanish peseta has been raised from 100 to 100 in the peseta.

The new rate of conversion will be in effect at all postoffices and branches of the United States Postal Service.

COURT REJECTS EVIDENCE BY "THEY SAY"

Woman Social Worker Is Cut Short by Judge Murray in Cases of Two Girls

Judge Michael J. Murray in Municipal court today censured a social worker for attempting to give hearsay evidence, declaring that the Constitutional rights of the public cannot be treated in this manner.

The case was that of Marion Robichek, charged with breaking and entering the room of J. Reekie in Roxbury, and the larceny of $20, and Mildred Smith, charged with being in a disorderly house.

The social worker attempted to testify regarding a statement she claimed to have heard about one of the girl defendants, but Judge Murray stopped her.

"I wonder," he said, "whose reputation would be safe if we all accepted hearsay evidence such as you are offering?"

The defendants were found guilty and sentenced to probation, when they agreed to go to the House of the Good Shepherd.

FOUR ADDED TO CHARITY WORK Because of the rapid increase in the number of families seeking assistance from the Public Welfare Department, Mayor Curley today found it necessary to add four temporary "volunteers" to that division.

These appointed were: Rose Goughlin of 142 Tyndale at 12 o'clock; William P. Lally of 48 Devon of 308 Broadway, South Boston, and Augustine Mulvey of 3 Cambridge terrace, Allston. They will receive $1800 a year each.

RATE RALLY DECLINE WALL ST.

New York, Nov. 10.—A moderate rally halted about 11 o'clock in price of the New York Stock Exchange today. The close saw some fair recovery from extreme drop of 1 to 1 1/2 points. Sales were about 4,600,000 shares, with trading quieting late in the session.

GRAIN AND COTTON OFF.
Weakness in the stock markets was mirrored in commodities. Corn futures sagged sharply and wheat was off 3 to 4 cents a bushel. New low prices for about 30 years.

The peak of the afternoon's selling was reached when Standard Oil New Jersey broke below $50 a share, the price which it had reached in a year ago, marking the end of the big drop at that time. Only a few shares were recorded in this afternoon before a rally.

Utilities and rails showed the most weakness in the selling. Several industrial leaders also gave up rather easily before about 2 o'clock.

U. S. Steel sold off over 2 points, then regained most of its losses, fading the rally. American Telephone was off nearly 4 before rallying.

Losses of 3 to 5 points came to the Public Service of New Jersey and American Electric Power.

Among other extreme reactions were those of Archibald & Co. of Louisville and Southern 10 and Union Pacific 9.

THAT 500 CLASS.
A year ago about 40 issues were selling above $500. Today the entire list maintained that level.

Several factors were recorded in the afternoon had been an upswing of one to two points over a year ago, but the market was not as strong as it had been in the fourth year.

With the new decline, the virtual unintermittent bear movement in stocks rolled into its third month today, having already begun in the insurance records.

The day's rallying, which was in the morning, was halted by fresh weakness in the utility and rail stocks, which soon turned the entire list emphatically downward.

One prominent factor in the low prices in two years or longer. Several commission houses predicted a substantial technical rally today, but the market was not as strong as it had been in the fourth year.

The day's business and corporate news failed to shed any new light on the situation.

The appointment of a receiver for Boston Oil, a small unit in the industry, had been foreseen by the recent action of the stock, but possibly it served further to emphasize the unsettlement in the market.

The statement of the Royal Dutch Co. board at the extraordinary shareholders' meeting in London to the effect that present conditions in the industry permit a profit margin for only the largest producing companies moved to am-

An Obsolete System

High Time to COMPEL House to Pass Norris Bill on Early Seating of Newly-Elected Members of Congress

If the American people lived under a government reasonably responsive to the public will, the new Congress elected on November 4 would enter upon its duties early in the new year.

And there is no good reason why all the newly-elected Senators and Representatives in Congress, except those elected to fill vacancies, should be prevented from meeting in regular session until December, 1931.

Joseph B. Ely will become Governor of Massachusetts during the first week of January. In two months from the day of his election he can begin to put into operation the policies he enumerated in his campaign and which the people of the Commonwealth approved.

Marcus A. Coolidge will become United States Senator in December, 1931, thirteen months from the day of his election. For more than one year he will be denied the opportunity of advocating and voting for the principles he represented in this campaign and which won the indorsement of our people so heartily.

When the Constitution was adopted, there was good reason for this delay because Senators were then elected by the Legislatures. The Legislatures did not convene until after the beginning of the new year. Lack of telegraphic communication and quick transportation necessitated a long interim between the election and wearing in of a new Congress.

All these conditions have been changed by the popular election of Senators and the development of quick means of communication and transportation.

In the light of these facts, the American people are well-nigh unanimous in their support of the amendment to the Constitution proposed by Senator Norris, of Nebraska. Under this amendment the new Congress would convene in regular session and the new President and Vice-President would be inaugurated in the January following their election.

The Senate has adopted the Norris resolution five times. It has failed to pass the House, only because of the opposition of reactionary leaders, who deliberately prefer delaying as long as possible the translation of the public will into law.

It is high time for all Democrats who profess the political faith of Thomas Jefferson and for all Republicans who profess the political faith of Abraham Lincoln, to join forces and COMPEL the House to pass the Norris resolution when Congress meets next month.

It is grossly unfair to the American people that they should be compelled to wait for more than a year before their mandates at the polls can be carried out.

Nearly all the States of the Union provide for the meeting of their Legislatures early in the new year, following their election.

And the people of the United States will make similar provision for their Congress whenever the States are given the opportunity to vote upon the Norris amendment.

Dr. Bogan Well Qualified

School Committee Should Make Him School Hygiene Head

For more than twenty-five years Dr. Frederick L. Bogan has been a respected and a popular figure in the public and the medical life of Boston.

Five times he was chosen by his fellow citizens to serve them as Chairman of the Boston School Committee. This was a substantial trust because it must be remembered that the city of Horace Mann has been proud and meticulous in all matters affecting the education of its children.

Dr. Bogan has been regarded as a foremost specialist in the ailments which afflict children and which impair their physical growth and mental development.

For a quarter of a century he has served as a military man patriotically under the flag of his country.

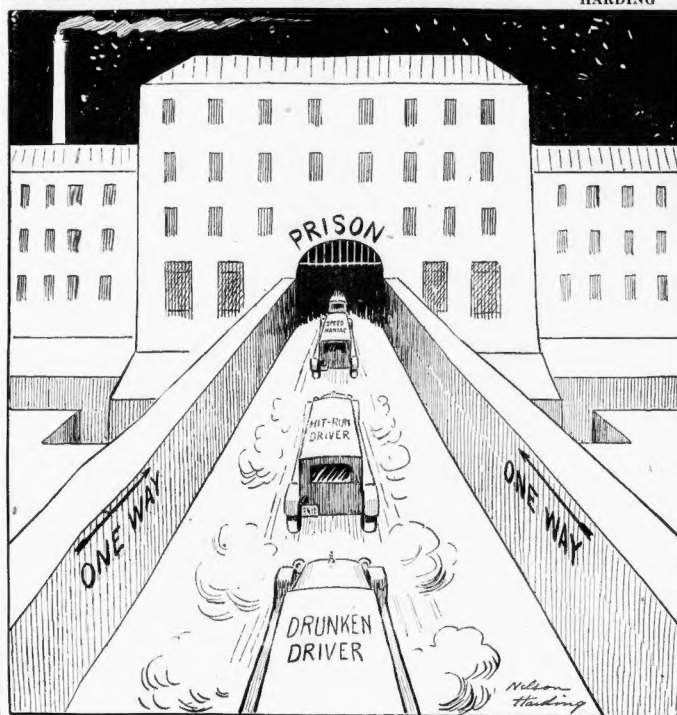

He organized the hospital and medical units for the Massachusetts soldiers in their hazardous adventure into Mexico. He commanded the 102d Field Hospital in France and the culmination of two years' service abroad saw him director of the field hospitals of the Yankee Division and saw him earning one of the highest ranks that can be acquired by industry and merit in the military medical service.

In his professional life, the Massachusetts Eye and Ear Infirmary has sought him as the Harvard Medical School has regarded him as one of its most advanced instructors. Here is a man who has served his country and his fellow-man devotedly, who has wide experience in organizing medical detachments on a large scale, who is especially equipped to supervise the health of the children in an institution so wide spread as the Boston school department.

The Boston School Committee should by all means impress Colonel Bogan into its service in order that the city and its children may derive the advantages of his talents and his experience. If he can be prevailed upon to accept the headship of the Department of School Hygiene, the School Committee can count it a day's work well done and for which it will receive the grateful approval of the public.

A SPEEDWAY FOR SPEEDERS

By NELSON HARDING

The place for all speed maniacs
Is this straight, one-way trail
That helps to speed them on their way
That terminates in jail.

A judge pronouncing sentences
Should be the traffic cop
Who sends the reckless drivers on
To jail without a stop.

Listen, World! Real Life

Beauty as 'H'ell as Misery Here

Elsie Robinson

PEOPLE are always reminding me of the "facts of life" and telling me that it isn't possible to remain happy or hopeful in the face of them.

Why not? These are facts and facts, they conclude that ALL the facts of life are depressing ones.

There is, I admit, much misery in the world. But there is also mystery and power and joy and quite as much beauty and ugliness.

"Learning the truth about life" does not mean learning only life's depressing ones. It means learning life's beauty and pain, dishonesty, cruelty and vulgarity. Truth isn't necessarily all wrinkles and wars.

Strength is as "true" as weakness. "Fitness and gentleness are as 'true' as cruelty and vulgarity. Why assume that the one wise person is the person who's chuck full of dark and dirty secrets. It's as wise to know sinners and love sinners as it is to know the smart and serious of the underworld and its disillusioned. But if you can't be enthusiastic about the things you see, be enthusiastic about those you don't see. There's always something happening on the other side of the fence, partner, even if your back yard is empty."

So we pretend that we're too "tender hearted" and refuse to stand the sight of all that suffering and sin. That's why we're—why we're not taking an active part in the performance any more.

We're not taking an active part because we're too cowardly or contented. If we really want to live full lives, there's as much joy to inspire us as there is sorrow to depress us.

"But I don't want to live a full life," you snap. "I've lost interest. Life isn't worth the living."

There's your fault, not life's. You can make life worth the living by picking out a few, pretty, selected facts and getting mad at all the rest. If you want to make a great whole picture, see life as it is—see it whole. Get the whole picture—not just a peevish portion of it. See it all and accept it all. Don't demand explanations for everything. Don't sit in judgment. Some of it you'll like and some of it you won't, but what of that? It's all education. And some of it will hurt you. And, again, what of that? A large life is worth anything you pay for it. And sometimes you'll be bored and sometimes you'll be terrified and disillusioned. But if you can't be enthusiastic about the things you see, be enthusiastic about those you don't see. There's always something happening on the other side of the fence, partner, even if your back yard is empty."

New York Day by Day

By O. O. MCINTYRE

Diary of a Modern Pepsy

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—Diary of a modern Pepsy: Up and dressing in Dean Palmer and Bob Davis in Germany and posing a manuscript with usual misgivings. My wife so pretty at breakfast that were we not married I would have proposed. So across town and accosted by six beggars.

In the afternoon came Raymond Dickson, Dave Picton and Karl Heibeltz and none in a 22V mood. To drive along the tumbled water front and to the dock to say goodbye to Ray Long again sailing for Honolulu, the gad-about. And always I watch a boat sail a little closer to the dock.

Dined at a "home cooking" place and partook of spoon bread, the first tasted since coming to the city. Later to see the colored baritone, Bill Robinson, and would rather exercise his tap dances than paint a Mona Lisa.

To my chambers chuckling over Kin Hubbard's line he liked distant relatives best.

According to telephoned information, 22,600 beggars collect two millions from New York pedestrians yearly. Parking, my cup and pencil!

The most annoying of the flood of beggars at the moment are those hatless—but by no means breathless—peeps who hop on auto running boards, stick heads in windows and whine their woppers.

Most beggars, both men and women, are of the tobacco or use snuff. Tests have shown people will rarely give alms to those smoking a pipe or cigarette.

The two most opulent beggars are legless men who wheel themselves about on portable platforms. Such a ride on crowded 42d street during rush hours averages $25.

Fruitful returns are made from solicited beggars accosted on dark side streets late at night. Some of these panhandlers have made $100 a night.

About 3 per cent of New York's maulers are deserving. The rest plunder spoils to gratify drug and alcoholic excesses. Charity experts say only the genuine cripples who display license badges should be assisted.

A new panhandling wrinkle is the fairly well dressed fellow who slides out of a doorway jingling a few coins in his hand. With feigned embarrassment he declares he needs just another nickel to buy medicine for a sick child. Few respond to such distress with less than a quarter. Often it is a dollar.

Broadway is a difficult street for the professional alms-seeker. He must face that "innate shrinking of wafers from being regarded as suckers. Earliest pickings are in so-called middle class neighborhoods. A Chinese rarely passes a beggar by.

In streets turning off either hip of Broadway after theater are always a number of blind beggars. People leaving plays, especially tear-jerkers, are extremely susceptible to sympathetic reactions to poverty. The blind also stop for the players themselves. Among chorists girl-tractists is a superstitious ill-luck belief that those who do not drop a coin in the blind man's cup.

Personal nomination for the two best shows of the new theatrical "thats" "Gratitude" and "Fine and Dandy."

Vernie Porter is on the verge of a collapse over the sudden realization that his flag and tree stirs eventually have to come down.

A young editor of the newspaper upon which he has been employed eight months, which recalls Bennett's motto to a managing editor:

"Fire all indispendable men."

From a psychology magazine: "As a man grows middle aged he should be proud of his vanishing youth. If he still cherishes adolescent diversions he is becoming too old."

And just when I was saving up to buy a trick sled that can read numbers.

Fifty Million Sore Throats

Can't Be Right

TRAGEDY IN THREE ACTS

While half the nation coughs and sneezes, Mr. Coffman dashes off this graphic sketch to show how you feel when the flu really hits you.

One day you are on top of the world. You stride down the street filled with joie de vivre, as the French say, or pep, as we express it informally in America. Nothing can stop you. Then the flu germ steals up behind you and stabs you in the back.

Though the sketch is humorous, it contains a profound lesson, like all of Mr. Coffman's drawings.

The lesson here may be summed up in these words: 1—Dress warmly, keep your feet dry, change your clothes as promptly as you can when you have been out in rain, snow or sleet.

2—Spray your throat if you feel a tickling sensation there. 3—Open your bedroom windows at night, give the fresh air a chance to keep you healthy.

There are other rules for baffling the flu germ, but these are the most important.

It is well to follow them carefully now, when Autumn has not quite passed. Winter is not quite here.

If all Americans had followed these rules in the last few days, there would be fewer colds than there are, and less pneumonia than is threatened.

Fifty million sore throats can't be right.

Trade Board's New Chief

Sidney S. Conrad an Ideal Selection

Under the leadership of its new President, Sidney S. Conrad, the Retail Trade Board is certain to expand and enlarge its influential interest in the civic affairs of Boston.

Mr. Conrad has vision and energy. He has an abounding faith and confidence in Boston.

The Retail Trade Board has earned the reputation of being the most effective body of merchants in this country. There is no mystery about this. It has refused to be restricted by the selfish psychology of self-interest and has devoted itself largely to the task of promoting the welfare and development of the city as a whole.

Mr. Conrad takes up the reins of leadership at an auspicious time. The city is expanding; it is progressively enlarging and its highway and transportation facilities are being applied to an extent that surprises and gratifies us when we stop to take count of them. It is a happy coincidence that Mr. Conrad has been a member of the City Planning Board which has devised these modern improvements and that he brings that wide experience to the Retail Trade Board at a time when the co-operation of all our official and semi-official civic organizations is essential.

Women's Clothes Prices

They're News

Women's clothes are from one-fourth to one-third cheaper today than a year ago, says Women's Wear, a publication which knows.

That is throughout the country. In Boston, probably, you will find the average much lower.

National prices are quoted as follows:

	Today.	1929.
Hat (felt).....	$5.00	$7.50
Coat (cloth, with fur collar).....	60.00	80.00
Dress.....	15.00	25.00
Shoes (all leather).....	6.00	7.50
Stockings (all silk).....	1.00	1.50
Underwear (crepe de chine).....	3.00	4.00
Gloves (washable capskin, domestic).....	2.00	2.50
Pocketbook (leather).....	3.00	4.00

Medium-grade products were chosen in this survey, which included the principal cities of the United States.

You can, of course, get even better values by watching the advertising columns and comparing the prices of one store with another.

Wise readers always have done that, and saved money.

Others, who a year ago might have told you that they "never read the ads," are reading them today. They see that the opportunities presented there are the most important news TO THEM, in the paper.
